Finding hope and answers for unexpected pregnancy

Are you pregnant amidst difficult circumstances? Are you weighing up your options? If so, then this brochure is for you.

Don't Do It Alone

It takes courage to face the challenges of pregnancy, particularly if you are in crisis. You may need some extra support if you want to face this new season successfully. Maybe you don't have many friends in your world to support and encourage you. We would like to help by introducing you to a new, encouraging friend. This could make all the difference as you face the road ahead.

Embrace with friends

If you would like a new friend or further information, please email us at friend@embrace.org or mail the form on the reverse side of this brochure. There is hope and there are answers to your difficulties. It just might take a change of perspective.

Choice

We understand you will want to make the best choice possible. Your circumstances are unique and someone else's choice may not necessarily work for you. Pregnancy directly affects you and also directly affects your growing baby. An appropriate choice is one that values both your life and the life of your growing baby... because both of you are valuable.

Value

You are truly amazing. There is no-one like you, no-one with the same current make-up and future potential. Your baby is also incredibly amazing. There is no-one like your baby, no-one with the same current make-up and future potential. No price could be attached to your life. No price could be attached to the life of your baby. An appropriate choice values both lives.

Courage

We want to encourage you. We believe that you are courageous. Others may tell you it's too hard to continue, but we believe you have the capacity to overcome any obstacles in your way. You have the courage to make a choice that values both you and your baby. This is a decision you can be proud of for the rest of your life.

You may not see the way forward yet, but there is a way. It just takes courage, support and the willingness to consider new possibilities.

You and your baby are worth it.
